MEDIA ADVISORY: Four arrested after police raid unit, locate clandestine laboratory - Naremburn

Thursday, 30 Apr 2009 10:25am

Two men and two women will face court today after police raided a unit at Naremburn, on Sydney's lower north shore, and allegedly located a clandestine laboratory.

At 5pm yesterday (Wednesday 29 April), police from State Crime Command's Drug Squad executed a search warrant at a unit in Willoughby Road.

Police will allege that inside the unit they found a large commercial clandestine laboratory containing equipment and chemicals capable of manufacturing amphetamines.

Two men, 34 and 44, and two women, 30 and 31, were arrested and taken to Chatswood Police Station where they were charged with drugs offences and refused bail to appear in Hornsby Local Court today.
